Many more than a mere few are now thankful that it's all over.

The Panama canal, originally designed to float ships, some sweet day, is already a success at loan floating.

Dr. Wiley will never experience difficulty in obtaining recruits for his squads, as the free lunch argument is one that always appeals.

Don't throw cold water on all of the favorite enterprises of the President just because you are told he enjoys a brisk walk in a heavy downpour of rain.

The temperance move has certainly struck Kentucky. In the Louisville Courier-Journal recently there appeared a column and a half editorial on "Our Internal Waterways."

Former Secretary Shaw attacks the Administration for "destroying confidence." How was it ever possible for him to remain in the Roosevelt cabinet so long? He and former Senator Spooner act like twins.

The Montgomery, (Ala.) Advertiser says: "The times seem to be somewhat out of joint when we can have heavy thunderstorms in the latter part of November." Let's prohibit them by a vote of the people.

"It's a wonder it didn't occur to President Roosevelt to abolish Thanksgiving proclamations, as well as the religious motto on the coins." says the Norfolk Pilot. It's no wonder at all. His turkey costs him nothing.

Just let all the "Statesmen" like Speaker Joe Cannon have their way for a while and about the only thing the farmers of the South would get from the emergency bond issue would be lemonade.

A very reliable authority states that Japan is offering armor plate to Spain cheaper than this country offers it. There is nothing strange about that. It would not be surprising after all, if it were manufactured in this country. Such are the beauties of Dingleyism.

What some periodicals and learned men of the North are discussing as "Vardmanism" is simply an inheritance of every normal white man born South of the Mason & Dixon line, and is the belief of every thinking and honest Northerner, who has lived in our midst for any length of time.

THE RATE HEARING

Further Examination of Witnesses Before Standing Master Montgomery in Raleigh

RIVER & HARBOR DELEGATES

One Hundred Prominent Men From State Named—Man Jumps From Third Story Window—Convict's Pardon.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 29.—In the Southern Railway rate suit testing the constitutionality of the 2 1-4 cent passenger rate act a greater part of the sessions today was taken up with further examination of Secretary Henry C. Brown, of the Corporation Commission, the trend of the examination being to establish the contention of the State that instead of costing fifteen or even ten cents more to earn a dollar in intra-State than in inter-State traffic, the cost is certainly no more and may be less for intra-State. There were figures given by Mr. Brown of the earnings of various North Carolina Southern short lines as compared with the earnings of the whole system.

Late in the afternoon Mr. Brown was excused for a while and C. W. Hillman, expert accountaint of Kentucky, was examined. He has had twenty years experience in railroad accounts and testified that his examination into railroad figures convinced him intra-State business was even more profitable than intra-State business. Mr. Hillman will be recalled later and the examination of Secretary Brown will be resumed tomorrow.

A guest at the Yarborough Hotel giving his name as R. B. White, of Richmond, Va., jumped from a rear third-story window early this morning rather than surrender himself to the police by whom he was wanted on the charge of stealing three suits of clothes from the Southern Express Company., at the Union depot here during the night. A policeman was at the door demanding admission at the time and White was assuring him that he would open in just a minute. A traveling man in an adjoining room saw White crawl out of the window and grasp the tin guttlering from the roof running down by the window. He called out to White "Old man I wouldn't try that it will kill you." However, White gave a sort of chuckle and slipped down the pipe about four feet, lost his grip and fell the balance of the way. He landed on his feet, held his hand to his side for a minute and then made off at a good gait. The police were notified and a chase began and the fellow was captured under the colored First Baptist church, three squares away where he had crawled to hide.

In the prisoner's pockets were found pawn tickets issued in the name of Solomon. R. B. White is believed by the police to be an alias. When carried to prison the prisoner began bleeding at the nose and complained of internal pains in his back.

White registered at the Yarborough about 4:30 o'clock and opened on the clerks desk boxes containing three suits of clothes, complaining that he had met with an accident, lost his suit case and considerable clothing including a vest to one of the suits. These were identified by the express company manager as the ones stolen from the company this morning and the prisoner is identified as the thief by eye witnesses. Search was made in various parts of the city for the thief before inquiry was finally made at the Yarborough as it was hardly thought he would be so bold as to go to the principal hotel when he must know a search was being made for him.

Len Bennett, the twenty-year convict from Stokes county pardoned Thanksgiving morning for his good behavior during the time he has served, made a successful plea at the State House Thursday morning to speak to the Governor and with tears streaming down his cheeks, knelt before the Governor to express his thanks for the kindness done him. There are extenuating circumstances connected with the crime of murder for which Bennett was sent up that fully warrant the executive pardon granted him. He has left for his old home in Stokes pledging himself to live an honorable and useful life.

CHASED A HORSE THIEF

Mounted Policemen George and Kunold Had Exciting Ride of Seven Miles in the Country After Wm. Loftin, Colored.

Mounted Policemen Chas. W. Kunold and Frank George had an exciting chase for seven miles after a horse thief Thanksgiving night, finally rounding up their quarry, William Loftin, colored, 19 or 20 years of age, and employed as a driver for Dr. D. W. Bulluck, whose horse and buggy he had taken without permission and was driving furiously with a colored woman, Josephine Redmond, to a dance on Middle Sound, when he was overtaken and brought back with the woman to jail.

Dr. Bulluck's horse was lame and after calling the boy in the house, giving him a good dinner and presenting him with a Thanksgiving neck tie, on Thursday, he told him to take the animal to his stable at Orrell & Alexander's. The negro, instead of doing as he was directed, bedecked himself with the new tie the doctor had just given him, drove around to the Redmond woman's house, took her in the buggy with him and started for the negro ball on the Sound. All might have been well, but in order to allay suspicion he telephoned to Orrell & Alexander's that if Dr. Bulluck telephoned there about the horse to tell him that he was in the stable and could not be brought out on account of the lame foot. Dr. Bulluck was notified and he in turn put Constable Savage, Deputy Sheriff Cox and the policemen of the city on the lookout for the truant. About 6 o'clock there came a message that the negro had been seen driving out Seventeenth and Market streets at a fearful pace, a negro woman in the buggy with him. Officers Kunold and George immediately put out after him on their horses. In spite of the fact that they rode hard, the negro had some seven miles before he was overtaken just beyond the milepost. Officer Kunold rode to the front of the stolen horse and grabbed the animal by the bridle, but the negro whipped the animal along and all but ran the buggy over the horse. Officer George closed in on him from the side and the two had quite a tussle with the negro before he was brought to time. A pistol was taken off his person and both he and the woman were brought back to town and on the way were turned over to Constable Savage and Deputy Cox, who were also on the chase. Both the man and the woman were locked up in jail for the night and the horse badly done up from the hard drive he had received was sent to the stables to recuperate, which will require some time.

Yesterday before Justice Furlong the negro was bound to the higher court under bond of $100 for the larceny of the horse and an aditional bond of $50 for carrying a concealed weapon. The woman was held only as a witness and after the preliminary was recognized for her appearance at the Superior Court to testify against the defendant.

Threw the Husband Out.

In Justice Borneman's court yesterday Dufuss Carter, a negro, was charged with an assault upon his wife, Rebecca Carter. The evidence was to the effect that Dufus went home Thanksgiving morning, intoxicated not only with the holiday spirit, but some other kind of spirits, a pint bottle of which latter elixir he proffered to his wife for a "Thanksgiving nip." She refused to drink and Dufuss, true to his name, swatted her one in the mouth. He had reckoned without his host for the woman is a giantess and when the first blow was passed she sailed into Dufuss, knocked him down, trampled him on the floor and wound up by throwing him through a window to the street. Justice Borneman held yesterday that he was the aggressor and he was taxed with the costs and admonished in the future to go slowly with a wife of better fighting proclivities than himself.

It is pathetic to see a man spending $10 on trying to gain the favor of a man who can do him a $1 favor.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Events That Made The Observance A Rather Notable One in Wilmington.

FOOTBALL AND SOME SCORES

Great Rejoicing at A. & M. Victory. Services in All Churches—The Golf Match, at Y. M. C. A., and Elsewhere.

Thanksgiving in Wilmington was observed in about the usual manner with possibly a little more general suspension of business than heretofore on account of the holiday. Services in nearly all the churches during the forenoon were well attended and from all pulpits were preached sermons appropriate to the great National festival of thanksgiving and praise for the mercies of a past year. The weather was a trifle cold and hazy but the rain did not come until comparatively late at night and few were inconvenienced thereby. Although there were hundreds of sportsmen afield during the day, no accidents of consequence occurred in the immediate vicinity of Wilmington and the day passed off altogether as perhaps it should.

Football interest on this day of great events on the gridiron was divided between the game at Hilton park between local teams and returns from the game at Norfolk and in Richmond. The game at Hilton was witnessed by a good crowd and the "Sluggers" captained by Dunn won 20 to 0 over the "Devils," captained by McKoy. There were four touchdowns, of which Houston made two and Jorgensen and Schulken one each, Newkirk kicking a pretty goal. The game was a good one in many respects. Will Grant refereed the game; Armstrong kept the time and Dosher served as linesman.

There was general rejoicing among local athletes at A. & M.'s victory of 10 to 4 over Virginia at Norfolk, thereby winning the championship of the South. Outgeneralled and guilty of frequent misplays in the first half, the Tar Heels pulled themselves together in the second half and had the game their own way. Twelve thousand people witnessed the contest on LaFayette Field. VonGlahn and Seifert, Wilmington boys, played right guard and left end for Carolina. In Richmond, V. P. I. defeated the University eleven by a score of 20 to 6 before a crowd of 7,000 people. McNeill, Carolina's right half back, made the star play of the entire game when he ran through the entire V. P. I. eleven for a 70-yard run a few seconds before the game closed. Croswell, of Wilmington, played full back and fully sustained his reputation on the gridiron.

At Nashville, for the first time in five years Sewanee crossed Vanderbilt's goal line in their annual game but Vanderbilt maintained her prestige and won 17 to 12. At Roanoke Davidson defeated Virginia Military Institute 10 to 6 and Pennsylvania won from Cornell at Philadelphia by 12 to 4. Bucknell won from Washington and Lee at Lynchburg on a safety. In all of these games there was much local interest and the scores were discussed during the evening with quite as much zest as if the local devotees of the sport had been there.

Another feature of Thanksgiving in Wilmington was the annual golf match on the links of the Cape Fear golf club. At 1 o'clock an oyster roast was served with luncheon for all members. Two very handsome silver loving cups were offered, the first being won by Capt. Donald MacRae and the second by Mr. T. M. Emerson. The prizes were formally presented by Mr. John J. Blair.

The reception given Thanksgiving evening in the Y. M. C. A. building was much enjoyed by all in attendance. The feature of the evening was an address by Rev. R. W. Hogue, of St. James', on "Thanksgiving." Always a most interesting and helpful speaker, his address Thursday evening was above the high standard for which he is noted in the community. The musical and other numbers included the singing of "America" by all present; a vocal solo by Mrs. Jas. S. Longfellow; bass solo by Mr. Herbert O'Keefe and a vocal solo by Miss Carrie E. Barker, with a Thanksgiving symposium by General Secretary Edward Kettle. All present enjoyed the evening very much.

Quite a number of young people enjoyed a delightful impromptu german, led by Mr. Adolph Goodman, in Harmony Circle Club Rooms on Thanksgiving evening. Mr. Goodman led with Miss Jeannette Frank and about twenty couples were present. A dainty spread of refreshments was served at 12 o'clock.

The Four Pickerts at the Academy of Music, matinee and night on Thanksgiving played to record-breaking houses. Many were turned away from the theater at night when "Pink Dominoes" was the bill. The matinee was also played to standing room only.

While the day was not specially inviting, many people journeyed to the Sound and beach during the afternoon and enjoyed the delightful pleasures of those resorts. A half-hour schedule was operated in the afternoon by the Consolidated Company and many took advantage of this convenience.

All told Thanksgiving 1907 in Wilmington was greatly enjoyed by Wilmington people and all joined most heartily in the spirit of the day.

The value of the world's railways is calculated at $27,775,000,000.

BAPTIST CONVENTION

Biblical Recorder Issues Souvenir Edition of Great Meeting to be Held in Wilmington the Coming Week.

This week's issue of the Biblical Recorder, organ of the great Baptist denomination in the State, is a hand some souvenir edition of the State Baptist Convention which will assemble in Wilmington with the First Church during the coming week. The edition is in every way a great credit to the publication and to the church which it represents in North Carolina.

The first page is devoted to handsome half-tone pictures of the officers of the convention, these being Wesley N. Jones, of Raleigh, president; N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, secretary; Rev. Hight C. Moore, assistant secretary; Rev. Livingston Johnston, corresponding secretary and Walter Durham, treasurer. On the inside pages are half-tone likenesses of the pastors of each of the Wilmington Baptist churches with a sketch of each congregation by a staff correspondent of the paper. There is also an excellent cut of the First Baptist Church, of this city, where the convention sessions will be held.

In addition to these special articles the regular departments of the paper are given with much other interesting news about the convention and the denomination in the State. One feature of the convention will be a pastor's conference to be held on Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning of convention week. Interesting and important subjects to the clergy have been assigned and these conferences promise to be quite helpful to all the pastors who take part.

DIED OF PARALYSIS.

Mrs. Mary A. Smith Passed Away Suddenly Last Night in This City.

Mrs. Mary A. Smith, widow of the late J. W. Smith and granddaughter of the late Thomas Munnerlin, one of the foremost preachers in the South Carolina Conference in his time, passed away suddenly last night at 9:15 o'clock at her home, No. 115 Dock street. Soon after supper yesterday evening at 6:30 o'clock Mrs. Smith was stricken with paralysis and though she was conscious for a short time thereafter, she grew rapidly worse and passed away at the hour named in spite of all that physicians, who had been hastily summoned, could do.

Her death was a sad blow to an only son, Mr. J. W. Smith, and a number of friends in this city. Mrs. Smith was a consecrated Christian woman and had a genial and kindly presence that endeared her to all with whom she came in contact.

In addition to the only son, who is a popular young clerk in the Western Union office in this city, Mrs. Smith is also survived by three brothers, Messrs. Frank B. and Benjamin Grier, of Sumter, S. C.; Mr. Tom Grier, of Summerville, S. C., and one sister, Mrs. Florida Huggins, of Camden, S. C. The absent members of the family have been notified of the death and will be here for the funeral which will be arranged later. The bereaved ones have the tenderest sympathy of many in the sorrow which has come to them.

Getting Ready for Pythians.

The committee of arrangements for the Pythian District Meeting to be held in this city Monday night met last evening and completed the details of the exercises upon this occasion, which have already been given in these columns. Features of the afternoon and evening will be an oyster roast at the Sound, leaving the city at 4 P. M., and lunch at the Wilmington Cafe at 6 o'clock in the evening. Grand Chancellor Crist while in the city will be a guest of Deputy Chancellor J. D. Nutt; Grand Vice Chancellor Webb will be a guest of Colonel Walker Taylor and Hon. George C. Cabell will be the guest of Captain T. D. Meares.

Their Tenth Anniversary.

At their hospitable home, Second and Nun streets, yesterday afternoon and evening Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Crowley delightfully entertained a large number of their friends in honor of the tenth anniversary of their wedding. Although the day was bad, a large number of friends called and many beautiful presents were received by the host and hostess of the occasion. The home was attractively decorated and all who had the pleasure of calling were delighted with the entertainment.

New Pastor Tomorrow.

Rev. J. T. Johnson, the new pastor of the Second Advent Church, is expected from Jacksonville, Fla., tomorrow and with his family will reside at 610 South Second street. The Jacksonville Metropolis of a recent date gives a lengthy appreciation of Rev. Mr. Johnson and regrets that the city is to give him up.

CHURCHES AROUSED

Feeling of Resentment at Imputation as to Hospitality of Wilmington.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION

Pastor Hale Makes Caustic Criticism of Other Denominations for Not Offering to Entertain Delegates—Prohibition.

It developed yesterday from the almost all-absorbing conversation on the streets and in downtown places of business that many of the pastors and members of the other religious denominations in the city have a feeling of very strong resentment of an imputation by Pastor Fred D. Hale, of the First Baptist Church, in a signed statement in the afternoon paper to the effect that because of his uncompromising position on the question of prohibition, they are not joining with his congregation, as is customary upon such occasions, in assisting with the entertainment of delegates and visitors who are expected here next week to attend the Baptist State Convention.

This feeling was accentuated during the afternoon when it became known that the following telegram had been sent by Pastor Hale to the leading daily newspapers of the State:

"To The Baptists of the State:

"Only delegates can be entertained at convention in Wilmington, N. C. No ladies. Reduce your representation. FRED D. HALE."

The published statement of Dr. Hale in the local paper is to the effect that a personal feeling has developed against him and the First Baptist Church because of the part that they have taken in the prohibition campaign. "It is thought," he says, "that this is why the other denominations have not shown the usual courtesy in helping to entertain guests in the State Baptist Convention, which gathers here next week and for which homes are now being assigned. There will be from 600 to 1,000 delegates and visitors to be entertained. The Baptists have always been forward in offering to help entertain other great bodies whose annual gatherings were held in Wilmington and at the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention here ten years ago, which was then about the size of our present State Convention, other denominations helped largely in the entertainment of the city's guests; but in this case only seven persons of the other churches have offered to take a guest in their homes or to entertain them at a hotel. With the well known reputation of Wilmington for its hospitality, this is not going to be to her credit when the hosts of Baptists gather here next week. How will a great denomination representing 200,000 people, feel when their messengers to this city return home and tell them that practically only the Baptists of Wilmington opened their doors to receive them as guests during their visit to our city. How will the churches of this city feel, on the Sunday of the convention, as they sit before Baptist ministers in their pulpits after they have declined to invite them into their homes? What will other denominations out in the State say at the course of their representatives in the 'City by the sea' in failing to show the usual hospitality to their Baptist brethren? What will unsaved sinners say of the lack of co-operation of all Christian people on an occasion like this and because of bad feeling against the Baptist as the result of their having done what they thought to be their duty in the prohibition campaign?"

Dr. Hale goes on further to say that comment is quite free upon the subject and the prohibition issue is the only explainable cause and that he knew that liquor demoralizes everything it touches, but it ought not to allow Christians to get offended with and treat discourteously their brethren in Christ, who follow out their honest convictions of what they believe to be their duty to the Master.

Several prominent men of other denominations, who were heard to express themselves yesterday, stated that they had entertained no other idea but that they would entertain some guests on this occasion, but had merely been waiting for a call from the committee usually appointed for such purposes. One gentleman, who served on the Chamber of Commerce committee which was invited to help with the arrangements for the Suothern Baptist Convention some years ago, stated that several days ago he had discussed the matter with his wife and she had arranged to entertain two of the visitors on this occasion and had been told to promptly comply with the request of any committee that would certainly call with respect to the matter.

Another gentleman, high in the business community, stated that while he would be away from Wilmington for the week in attendance upon the Methodist conference at Newbern, he had arranged to entertain two of the delegates at the hotel, but he had never even been approached on the subject by any committee or person; that the first he knew of there being any lack of co-operation on the part of the de-

AFRICAN LABOR.

Frank G. Carpenter, writing from Khartum, in the interior of Africa, described in a recent letter to the Norfolk, Va., Landmark, a local labor condition which will strike the Southern employer of labor very forcibly.

The farmers, builders, merchants, and householders of the South have been baffled by the same lack of steadiness and ambition in the colored citizen as a worker, as have the employers of labor at Khartum. What Mr. Carpenter says is of much interest and in part is as follows:

"I have asked some questions here as to labor. The builders tell me it is almost impossible to get what they want, and that the more wages they pay the greater the danger of a labor famine. The trouble is the natives will not work if they have money, and when the wages are high they work so much the less. All they need is their food, and a family can live on 5 cents and less per day. The food consists chiefly of boiled durra or sorghum meal, and the drink is a native beer which costs almost nothing. A man can get a suit of clothes for a dollar, and a woman can be outfitted for less. When food is cheap the prices of labor rise, and when it is dear they fall. The native reasons that he ought to be paid more for his work when the food prices are low, for in such a case he can easily get food ahead, and why should he work at the ordinary wage when he has all he wants? When the food goes up the laborers need the work to pay for it and the competition brings wages down."

Now it is fair to say that indifferent and unambitious labor, labor with no realization of responsibility or opportunity, is not confined to the negro race.

A great many Caucasians do their work without spirit, ambition or care and plenty of such shirkers are found among those who receive high wages. But the native African race suffers most from "the lazy, worm." The majority of the individuals in other races are impelled to work by something within them—ambition, sense of duty, a desire to be occupied, or what not; but the majority of the colored race seem to have been born without that saving spark that kindles the fire of energy.

None realize this truth more clearly, none deplore it more heartily, than the industrious, decent minority of the colored people themselves.

WATCH THE TARIFF.

A New York dealer in watches is not only doing a thriving business, but is giving the advocates of a high protective tariff some bad quarters of an hour by going over to England and buying watches sold there by the American Watch Trust at a smaller price, by a great deal, than they can be bought for in this country.

A certain watch of a well-known make sells for twenty-five dollars retail, in this country, but the dealer in question has no difficulty in going over to England, buying the same watches and after bringing them back here and paying all expenses, he is able to sell them for seven ninety-eight, wholesale.

This, he admits, is what he paid for them in England. He is sacrificing the profit for the sake of driving home the argument.

This dealer, if he bought these American made watches in America would have to pay ten dollars and fifty-eight cents, wholesale, for them In short these watches are shipped to England and sold over there for two dollars and sixty cents less than the American dealer would have to pay for them.

It is well known that the steel trust does the same thing and so do many other trusts. It is a rather forcible illustration of the iniquities of the high protective tariff and the particular dealer who is giving the American people an illustration of the operations of the tariff is entitled to much encouragement and support.

THE WHITE HAND.

A New Orleans paper wishes more power to the "White Hands," the organization of Chicago's respectable Italians, for the purpose of breaking up the "Black Hand" league of the latter city and bringing its members to justice.

By way of encouraging the Chicago "White Hands" its says: "The value of such a society as is proposed has already been demonstrated in New Orleans. The organization of law-abiding Italians in New Orleans to run down the kidnappers of little Walter Lamana resulted in the clearing up of the mystery, the arrest and conviction of six of the conspirators and the scattering of other participants in the outrage to the four winds."

Should the course of the better class of Italians of New Orleans and New York be also pursued in other cities, where Black Hand and Mafia outrages are purpetrated, the effect would be not only the crushing out in short order of those infamous gangs, but the removal of a widespread and unjust prejudice against Italians generally as immigrants.

The right of the New York police to take Bertillon measurements, photographs and the pedigree of an indicted man before he is properly convicted, and especially while out on bail, is likely to be soon questioned in the Supreme Court at Brooklyn. Friends of President Howard Maxwell of the Borough Bank, who killed himself the other day have declared that the disgrace of being subjected to police measurements was the real cause of his rash act.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

The December issue of the Atlantic is a peculiarly interesting magazine. There are seven important articles, each very brilliant of its kind. The leader is entitled "The Future of Our Navigable Waters," and is written by John L. Mathews, who has been making a special study of the subject. "An Art Museum for the People," by Frank Jewett Mather, treats of the best practical arrangement of exhibitions for public use. Agnes Deans Cameron writes on "Wheat, the Wizard of the North," a striking article telling of the enormous immigration to the newly utilized fields of western Canada.

Two reviews of different groups of recent literature are contributed by William Allan Neilson, who considers the Shakespearean writings of the last year, and by Ferris Greenslet, whose essay, "The Year on Parnassus," deals with the best of the latest poetry.

The poetry of the number is of a strictly Christmas character. The titles and the authors are as follows: John B. Tabb, "At the Manger;" Chester Firkins. "Christmas Eve;" and John Erskine, "Childhood."

The Contributors' Club contains a number of short, brilliant papers, as follows: "Chrysalis Time." "A Plea for the Vanishing Story," "Turgenieff Anew," "Bubblyjocks," and "A Winter Garden."

—Meantime, Santa Claus is trying to intimate that he will be glad to handle all gold coins, with or without the motto.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

—John D. denies that he owns any United States government bonds. He only owns a mortgage on the United States.—Newark Star.

—People who disagree with the President would be more formidable in their antagonism if there were a prospect of their agreeing with one another.—Washington Post.

—Attorney-General Bonaparte seems to know all about running a newspaper; so in his next speech he should tell the hotel men how to run a hotel. —Portsmouth (Va.) Star.

—The fact that Japan feels able to build warships for other countries instead of keeping them herself looks like an encouraging peace symptom.—Washington Evening Star.

—"A Canadian judge has decided that women may wear their hats in the theatre." It would be interesting to know what he would have done about it if he had decided otherwise. —Norfolk Landmark.

—The Washington correspondents are determined that Congress shall not lack advice as to how to perfect the currency system.—Houston Post.

—The Panic will soon be turned into a bargain counter rush.—Cleveland Leader.

—The true inwardness of the recent financial crisis has now become known and no doubt remains in the minds of those who are familiar with the facts that the "panic" was shrewdly and deliberately manufactured in New York. It was an organized assault on the Roosevelt administration, and the policies it represents, cooked up by the New York banks to bring about demoralization and embarrassment. As the inside facts become known it is apparent that it was the deepest and most despicable conspiracy ever entered into by the financial interests of New York.—Atlanta Journal.

—It may occur to some foolish person that there is small occasion for a day of national thanksgiving at a time when the country is experiencing a setback in its material development. The fact is that there have been few times in the history of the United States when the people had truer or greater cause to be thankful than they have at this moment. The country should rejoice that it has met a critical disturbance in its monetary centre —a financial panic, to be plain—with the most remarkable and effective coolness ever exhibited under the same circumstances. It is safe to say, we think, that neither this nor any other country ever before braced itself so successfully against panic.—Norfolk Landmark.

TWINKLINGS.

—"Young man, don't you know that it's better to be alone than in bad company?" "Yes, sir. Good-bye, sir." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

—Stella—Did she give a farewell dinner to her bridesmaid? Bella—Yes. She isn't engaged yet, but the cook is going to leave.—Harper's Bazaar.

—"So you find Socialism much on the increase in Europe?" "Alarmingly so. Why, every time our motor ran over a peasant, they made as much fuss over it as if it really mattered." —Baltimore American.

—Miss Gettingon (archly)—I hear you are thinking of matrimony, Mr. McCoy. Mr. McCoy—Me? Say, what do you take me for? Miss Gettingon —Oh, Jack! For better or for worse, of course—but this is so sudden!—Cleveland Leader.

—"If," said the Bilville editor, "you see the Major coming this way with his shotgun be sure and let me know." "He's comin' now, sir," replied the office boy, "but I notice that he's half shot—so it will be an easy matter to finish him!"—Atlanta Constitution.

—O'Brien—'Tis a quare thing about a cousin o' mine. He had a great habit o' walkin' in his sleep. O'Toole —Ye don't tell me? Can't be cured of it, at all O'Brien—Cured of it? Shure, 'tis the makin' of him; he's in the police force.—Illustrated Bits.

—Disgusted Wife—Say, niggah, eber sence Ah married yo' yo's dun nuffin' 'cept sit round de house. Doan' you eber feel enny ambishion? Lazy Husband—Ah feels ambishion w'en Ah's sittin' round hyah, honey; but jes' 's soon 's Ah stahts ter wo'k Ah its discouraged.—Judge.

—"There are some verses I wrote," said the innocent young man laying the paper on the editor's desk; "you may give me just what you think they are worth." "But I have not the authority to give you what they deserve," replied the man with the pen. "Remember, I am an editor, not a magistrate."—London Opinion.

NATURE PROVIDES FOR SICK WOMEN

a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines and Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.

During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures of those serious ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person and every thinking woman.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacements, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.

YOUR NERVES.

The Most Untiring of All Are Those of the Heart.

The most easily tired nerves in the body are the nerves of smell. They can detect the faintest whiff of perfume. As you pass a rose in the garden the quantity of perfume that gets into your nostril must be many millions of billions of times smaller than the tiniest grain of sand. But rub the strongest perfume on your upper lip and in a few seconds you fail to notice it, the nerve of smell is so quickly fatigued.

The heat nerves and cold nerves, which are quite distinct from the nerves of ordinary sensation, also give over working very quickly. A bath that seems quite hot when you step into it very soon ceases to cause any particular feeling of heat.

Nerves of hearing and sight can go through an enormous amount of work. For sixteen hours a day they work hard and are still willing to do more.

The nerves of the heart are the most untiring of all. From the first dawn of life until the last gasp they work without stopping for one instant. And even after death if some salted water is pumped into the heart it commences to beat again, showing that the nerves are still willing. — Pearson's Weekly.

HE REVISED IT.

Young Author Was Anxious to Comply With the Editor's Request.

"Your story possesses merit," wrote the kindly magazine editor in returning a manuscript to a struggling young author of Washington "but you have embellished it with too much description, atmosphere and other irrelevant matter. What we want is a story setting out the simple facts—facts, just plain facts. If you will revise your story according to our ideas, we will be glad to pay you $25 for it."

A few days later the editor got the following from the struggling young author of Washington:

"Herewith revised story. Please send check by return mail, as I need the money."

And this was the story as rewritten:

"Jonas loved Eliza, but he was poor, and wealthy papa kicked. Jonas went into Wall street and made a million, incidentally bankrupting papa. Then Eliza went fishing, fell off a log into the mill pond, and Jonas fished her out. Papa relented and borrowed a hundred thousand from Jonas. Marriage." —Washington Post.

Explosion of Gasoline.

A gasoline tank rarely explodes. It cannot unless it contains gasoline vapor and air in explosive proportions, which latter condition is almost never present.

It does not explode because it contains too little air or too much gasoline. Even if a tank of gasoline were to burst from heat applied to its exterior the confined heavy gas would not explode if in contact with flame or fire, but would burn instead.

True, a tank of gasoline with no vent could do considerable damage were it to burst and throw burning oil and flaming gas about, but 1,000 gallons of gasoline in a vessel's bilges would not be so dangerous from explosion as a hundredth of that amount. The larger quantity would burn rapidly, while the smaller would be sufficient, if mixed with the proper amount of air, to utterly demolish almost any boat.—Scientific American.

Aldrich's Birthplace.

The quaint old town by the sea called Portsmouth is the only seacoast town in New Hampshire and is one of our very oldest settlements, for it was founded in the year 1623, and it has a history worth knowing. It was an old town when Thomas Bailey Aldrich was born in one of its quaint and ancient houses on the 11th of November in the year 1836, and he has written a very delightful book about Portsmouth called "An Old Town by the Sea," while his famous "Story of a Bad Boy" is a very true account of his boyhood in the New Hampshire seaport.—J. L. Harbour in St. Nicholas.

A PRETTY ENTERTAINMENT.

Miss Etta Ormsby Host of Party at Castle Haynes Thanksgiving.

(Special Star Correspondent)

Costle, N. C., Nov. 27.—Miss Etta Ormsby, of Castle Haynes, gave a delightful dancing party at the home of her aunt, Mrs. N. Bowden on Thanksgiving evening. The house was tastefully decorated with bamboo, holly and chrysanthemums. Among those present were Mesdames J. W. Winders, W. H. Shearin, G. W. Baldwin, Minnie Savage, Alex Cameron, Misses Kate Paddison, Burgaw; Sallie Hansley, Wilmington; Hattie Kapinskie, Pittsburg, Pa.; Nellie Simpson, Messrs. W. H. Shearin, J. W. Winders, Lee Fitzhugh, Norfolk, Va.; Ed Bowden, Burgaw; Herbert Cowan, Burgaw; Fred Baldwin, Portsmouth, Va.; John Corbett, Robert Savage and a number of other guests whose names the writer failed to note. After a most delightful evening the guests departed hoping soon the return of another such pleasant event.

Luther League Entertained.

The Luther League of St. Paul's Lutheran Church delightfully entertained last night in the Luther Memorial Building. A literary and musical programme of excellence was enjoyed by the large number of guests, after which refreshments were served. There was no charge for admission but a free-will offering of goodly amount was left at the door for the purchase of a handsome new lectern for the church. Everyone in attendance spoke in the highest terms of the entertainment as enjoyed during the evening.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Thos. J. Gore was yesterday granted a permit to build a store to cost $650 at Front and Wright streets.

—The local cotton market yesterday went to 10 7-8 cents for middling. New York spot was quoted steady at 11.70. Receipts here were 5,184 bales against 4,439 same day last year.

—The alarm of fire from Fourth and Grace streets Thanksgiving night at 11:40 o'clock was on account of a slight blaze in the house, 212-213 Grace street, owned by Mrs. Sloan and occupied by Mrs. Willies. The damage was only trifling.

YACHTS IN PORT.

One for Repairs; Two Others for Provisions and Supplies.

The yacht Tarantula, belonging to Mr. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., of New York, bound from the home port to Jacksonville, Fla., arrived in Wilmington Thanksgiving Day and yesterday morning went on Skinner's marine railway for slight repairs, necessitated by having encountered a gale on the 24th inst., between Cape Lookout and Frying Pan. The Tarantula was formerly a torpedo boat of the United States Navy and is one of the fastest boats that has entered here in a long time. She has been handsomely refitted and overhauled by her owner and is in command of Capt. W. E. Hardin. She will be ready to proceed on her voyage in a few days. Her owner and party will join the yacht at Jacksonville.

Two other yacht arrivals yesterday were the Eleanor Third, owned by Herbert Mills, of Chicago, and mastered by Capt. Lind, and the yacht Grainger, owned and mastered by Capt. James Harvey, who is on board. Both these yachts are in for provisions and supplies and report to the Rudder Station here, Capt. C. D. Maffitt in charge. Both are bound to Florida from the North.

This season of the year there is a regular fleet of pleasure yachts on their way to Florida for the Winter, two others which put in at Southport during the week having been the "Huntress," Capt. I. A. Bennett, from New York to Miami, owned by Dr. R. V. Pierce, the proprietary medicine manufacturer of Buffalo, and the Nan, Capt. Thos. Dahlberg, owned by Mr. Gus Ahman, who is making the cruise down the coast on board his craft, with his wife.

nominations was the attack upon the hospitality of the city by Dr. Hale.

When the telegram was sent to the papers of the State yesterday afternoon something akin to indignation seemed to take possession of a number of the leading churchmen of the city and it is understood that an appeal to Dr. Hale for some modification of the wording was made without result; it was stated that he was asked to be more certain of his ground before sending out the report of the lack of co-operation on the part of the city of Wilmington, but for reasons best known to himself he declined to do so. He stated several of the papers had asked for fuller information on the subject and he had given it to them.

These facts are gleaned as they came in the ordinary rounds of news-gathering and are presented without comment. It would appear that the public would hear more of the subject before the week is over. It is stated that certain of the church people are now preparing some statement of their position in regard to the whole matter. To say the least of it, such a controversy at this time is indeed unfortunate and had better never to have occurred. It would seem that the religious denominations are about to have a "washing of dirty linen" in the public prints throughout the State.

HAS LOCATED HERE.

Burett H. Stephens, Architecture and General Engineering.

It will be a pleasure to the many friends of Mr. Burett H. Stephens, who had charge of the architecture and construction of the mammoth Swift Fertilizer Works up the river, to know that he has decided to locate permanently in Wilmington and has opened an office for the practice of his profession, architecture and general engineering, in Room 406, Southern Building. While he will still hold his old connection with Swift & Company he is prepared to handle in addition any outside work that may be offered and will be permanently located in Wilmington.

Although a young man, being not yet over 35 years of age, Mr. Stephens has handled an immense amount of architectural and construction work on some of the largest jobs in the country. He was educated in architecture at the State University of Illinois; in mechanical engineering at Armour Institute, Chicago, and in designing at the Chicago School of Designing. For some years he was connected with D. H. Burnham & Co., said to be the largest firm of architects in the world; Sheppely, Rutan & Coolidge, Boston architects, and for a time was the designing engineer for the American Bridge Co., of Chicago, and was in charge of the drafting and superintendent of construction for Armour & Co., in Chicago. During his Chicago practice he made drawings for railroad shops at Pocatello, Idaho; six county jails and sheriffs' residences and the jail at the government Indian reservation at Chawano, Wisconsin. He superintended for Schwartzchild & Selzburger the construction of one of the largest cold storage plants in the United States and designed the plant of the United Dressed Beef Co., in New York City, and the warehouses of the National Packing Company, in Chicago. All told the supervising and designing work he has done aggregates over two million dollars. He was for some years superintendent of motive power for Libby, McNeill & Libby, in Chicago, and some of his latest achievements have been the building of the works at Wilmington and the oil refinery plant just completed at Charlitte. He has also had considerable experience in residence, business and public buildings of every nature.

Mr. Stephens is well prepared to take care of anything in the architectural or engineering line that is entrusted to him and Wilmington is glad to have him located here permanently. He will be an honor to the profession in Wilmington and a most agreeable resident for the city.

MAYOR'S COURT YESTERDAY.

Thanksgiving Interim Slightly Increased Size of Docket.

The Thanksgiving interim, no court having been held Thursday, slightly increased the size of the docket in the police court yesterday. Archie S. King, the young white man who partially wrecked the interior of Hall's drug store, Fifth and Castle streets, Tuesday night, was taxed with a fine of $5 and costs after he had paid Mr. Hall something over $90 reparation for the damages which he had caused in the store. Mr. King testified that he could not explain his conduct on this occasion; that he was totally oblivious of anything he had done and that so far as he knew he had not tasted a drop of liquor. He was free and frank with the Mayor and was discharged with the minimum fine.

P. C. Quinney, a young white plumber of the city, was charged with having thrown the pair of plyers at young Mr. Bruce Watson in front of Honnet's jewelry store Tuesday midnight, but he maintained that he was innocent and in the absence of testimony, he was found not guilty and discharged.

Tom Wagner, Ed Taylor and Joe Windley, a trio of festive negro gamblers, were sent to the higher court

Jeff Spires Killed as the Result of An Old Feud.

Albany, Ga., Nov. 29.—Jeff Spires of Miller county, was shot and killed yesterday by Dr. B. V. Elmore a prominent physician in the latter's drug store at Kessler.

The killing was the result of an old feud. Spires entered the drug store and presented a knife at the throat of R. E. Elmore father of the doctor, threatening to kill him. Before he could put the threat into execution the younger Elmore fired, shooting Spires through the body. The wounded man died 20 minutes later.

GRANTED MORE TIME.

Arguments on the Bills Filed by Alabama Roads Postponed.

(By Wire to the Morn ng Star.)

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 29.—The restraining order issued by Judge Thomas G. Jones upon bills filed by the Louisville & Nashville and allied lines and made returnable on next Monday, will not be argued on that day, as the attorneys for the State have been granted further time.

Monday a conference will be held between the attorneys for the State on the pending litigation and Governor Comer, when a day will be determined upon at which the arguments will be made. Attorney General Garber called on Judge Jones and asked that the State be given further time as it could not properly make an answer in the short time intervening between today and Monday. This was granted and the understanding was reached that the restraining order and the hearing of the supplemental bills would come up for argument on some day between December 15 and December 20.

Governor Comer returned to Montgomery tonight from his hunting trip. He positively declined to discuss the litigation.

WILL CONTEST DELEGATION.

Senator Foraker Announces That He Is In the Race.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 29.—Senator Foraker made it clearly known today that he will contest the Ohio delegation to the Republican convention with Mr. Taft. This decision is contained in a letter to Conrad J. Mattern, vice president of the Ohio Republican League, who forwarded Mr. Foraker a copy of the resolutions adopted by the advisory and executive committee of the League, endorsing Mr. Foraker for the Senatorship and for the Presidential nomination, which was made public today. He defends his course in relation to the passage of the railroad rate bill and insists that the necessity of the railroads of the country to spend millions of dollars annually in increasing their facilities makes this a bad time to hamper the roads in any unnecessary way by legislation.

BROWNSVILLE REPORT.

Senate Committee on Military Affairs Encounters More Delay.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 29.—The senate committee on military affairs met today to take up the question of the Brownsville, Texas, riot of August 13, 1906, but without transacting any business of importance adjourned to meet on Monday next.

The committee had hoped to be able to begin the preparation of its report at the meeting Monday next, but it now looks as if there would be still further delay on account of the failure so far to secure a complete report of the report made by the Brownsville grand jury on the riot. There also will be some delay on account of the difficulty in securing a prompt analysis of the bullets which were fired during the trouble at that place.

DEFENDANT WINS.

B. W. Seely Looses His Suit for $10,000 Against Admiral Berry.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Pensacola, Fla., Nov. 29.—In the suit for $10,000 damages against Admiral B. M. Berry, now commandant of the Norfolk Navy yard brought by B. W. Seely for being ejected from the naval reseravtion near here, the court today rendered a decision in favor of the defendant. Seely did business in the town of Warrington, whose citizens are subject to regulations of the commandant of the yard. The court held that Seely violated the rules of the Admiral when he was commandant of the Pensacola yard, and that the Admiral had power to evict any person from the reservation.

—Whiteville News Reporter Nov. 28.—We learn that Geo. Cheney, colored, was shot and killed at Cronly, N. C., by A. Applewhite, a negro, last Saturday night. Particulars are scarce but it is supposed that Applewhite was shooting at an officer who held a warrant for his arrest. The slayer has not been apprehended as yet.

—"If you refuse me," said the young man, "I shall blow out my brains." "I'd hate to have you do that," replied the girl, thoughfully, "and yet it would be a good joke on pa. He says you haven't any, you know."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Around all day with an aching back;
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make any one "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life.
They will cure the backache;
Cure every kidney ill.
Here is Wilmington proof that this is so:

E. Poezolt, merchant tailor of Eight South Front street, residing at 315 North Sixth street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "My wife used Doan's Kidney Pills and in her case they proved to be an effective remedy. She suffered with her ankles and could scarcely get down stairs in the morning. We thought it was rheumatism, and her ankles would be all pulled up every morning, so she could hardly hobble around. Since obtaining Doan's Kidney Pills at R. R. Bellamy's drug store and taking them she seems like another person. She is better in the morning, the swelling left her ankles and from the great relief she obtained we are only too glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

JEFFERSON DAVIS ON PROHIBITION

The following statesmanlike and far-seeing letter from the pen of ex-President Jefferson Davis upon the subject of prohibition, commends itself to the consideration of all citizens who earnestly desire the welfare of the Commonwealth:

Beauvoir, Miss., July 20, 1887.

Colonel R. P. Lubbock.

My Dear Friend:—Yours of the 12th instant with its enclosures has been received.

I have heretofore declined to answer any of the inquiries made for my opinion on the constitutional amendment now pending in Texas.

Reared in the creed of Democracy my faith in its tenets has grown with its growth, and I adhere to the maxim that "The world is governed too much."

When our fathers achieved their independence the corner stone of the government they constructed was individual liberty, and the social organizations they established were not for the surrender, but for the protection, of natural rights. For this, governments were established deriving their just power from the consent of the governed. This was not to subject themselves to the will of the majority, as appears from the fact that each community inserted in its fundamental law a bill of rights to guard the inalienable privileges of the individual.

There was then a two-fold purpose in government—protection and prevention against trespass by the strong upon the weak, the many on the few.

The world had long suffered from the oppressions of government under the pretext of ruling by divine right, and excusing the invasion into private and domestic affairs on the plea of paternal care for the morals and good order of the people.

Our sires repected all such pretensions, their system being: Government by the people for the people, resting on the basis of natural, inalienable rights. Upon the basis of these general propositions, I will briefly answer the inquiry in regard to the prohibition amendment at issue.

"Be ye temperate in all things," was a wise injunction, and would apply to intolerance as well as to drunkenness. That the intemperate use of intoxicating liquors is an evil, few, if any, would deny.

That it is at the root of many social disorders is conceded; but then the question arises, what is the appropriate remedy, and what the present necessity? To destroy individual liberty and moral responsibility would be to eradicate one evil by the substitution of another, which, it is submitted, was offered as a remedy. The abuse and not the use of stimulants, it must be confessed, is the evil to be remedied. Then it clearly follows that action should clearly be directed against the abuse rather than the use. If drunkenness be the cause of disorder and crime, why not pronounce drunkenness itself to be a crime and attach to it proper and adequate penalties? If it be objected that the penalties could not be enforced, that is an admission that popular opinion would be opposed to the law; but if it be true that juries could not be impaneled, who would convict so degraded a criminal as a drunkard, it necessarily follows that a statutory prohibition against the sale and use of intoxicants would be a dead letter.

I might appeal to men not as old as myself to sustain the assertion that the convivial use of intoxicants and the occurrence of drunkenness had become less frequent within the last twenty years than it was before. The refining influences of education and Christianity may be credited with this result. Why not allow these blessed handmaidens of virtue and morality to continue unembarrassed their civilizing work?

You have already provision for local prohibition. If it has proved the wooden horse in which a disguised enemy to State sovereignty as the guardian of individual liberty was introduced, let it be a warning that the progressive march would probably be from village to State and from State to United States, and result in a governmental supervision and paternity instead of the liberty the heroes of 1776 left as a legacy to their posterity. Impelled by the affection and gratitude I feel for the people of Texas, and the belief that a great question of American policy is involved in the issue you have before you, the silence I had hoped to observe has been broken. If the utterance shall avail anything for good, it will compensate me for the objurgations with which I shall doubtless be pursued by the followers of the popularism of the day.

Faithfully yours,
JEFFERSON DAVIS.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Rocky Mount Echo: The Railroad Company at this place, by cutting off men and salaries has reduced their pay roll over one thousand dollars per month.

—Whiteville News Reporter, Nov. 28.—Rufus Watts is in jail here charged with striking a man named Cannon, with an axe helve, at the Cattail Bay. Watts will be held without bail pending the victim's recovery.

—Newbern Journal: The affairs of the Trent River Lumber Company, have been placed in the hands of a receiver. Action was brought at the request of the Hyman Supply Company. Mr. A. F. Patterson has been appointed receiver.

—Hon. Frank Thompson of Onslow county, makes this cheering report of conditions in his county: "Everything is going ahead all right. Fishing in New River is good. The crops of corn, peanuts, and potatoes have been fine, and the hay crop splendid. Only the cotton crop is poor. Our farmers are in an excellent financial condition."

—Whiteville News Reporter: We are more than pleased to note that Capt. J. L. Briton is arranging for the erection of several small dwellings, the first of which is already under way near the depot. This is the crying need of our town, more dwellings. Despite the fact that citizens are building every day in the year there is never a vacant house.

—Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—North Carolina has been accorded the honor of furnishing the speaker for the nomination of John Sharp Williams as Minority Leader in the Democratic caucus of the National House of Representatives. Congressman C. R. Thomas of North Carolina will make the nominating speech. The caucus will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

—Goldsboro Headlight: A telegram was received by Mrs. Ernest Fendt from Rocky Mount Wednesday evening, stating that her husband was dead. When Capt. J. J. Robinson, the undertaker, met the supposed remains at the depot that night with a hearse, Fendt was seen to alight from the west side of the car hale and hearty. He claims that he knew nothing concerning the telegram, which was signed "B. M. S." The shroud purchased for him by his brother-in-law, Mr. Dock Smith, was returned to the Cyclone Bargain Store the next morning.

—Waxhaw, Nov. 26.—Former President of the United States and general of the American forces in the war of 1812, was born six miles southwest of this station. The Jackson birthplace site has been marked and a little park has been laid off around it by the Daughters of the American Revolution. This tablet is framed and occupies a most conspicuous place to greet the eye of passengers on the train going South. It is the pride and glory of the people of this sprightly and growing little town and sends a thrill of patriotism through the hearts of all who read it.

—Fremont, Nov. 28.—On the 26th inst. a negro by the name of Robert Fort stole a bale of cotton belonging to Mr. Thomas Foster, who cultivates Mr. J. A. Bogue's farm near Eureka, about eight miles from town. The negro brought the cotton here and sold it to Davis & Hooks for $50.72. They paid him $24.75 in cash and the remainder in goods. But it soon developed that the cotton had been stolen, J. A. Bogue having recognized the bale on the cotton yard here. The case was put into the hands of our vigilant town marshal, E. J. Overby. He went to the negro's home and soon returned with him a prisoner. He had his trial this morning before Squire E. L. Becton. He confessed his guilt saying he did not know why he took the cotton. He was bound over to court, his bond being fixed at $100. At this writing he has not given bail and is likely to go to jail. Marshal Overby found a pistol on his person when arrested. He also recovered $20 of the money paid him by Davis & Hooks, which was returned to them.

Asheville, Nov. 28.—The saloon dealers of Asheville have formally determined to make an effort to have their licenses extended from January 1 to April 8. Petitions have been presented to the board of aldermen requesting this extension. These petitions are liberally signed by well known business men of the city, and also some prohibitionists. It is contended by the saloon keepers and their lawyers that the State law only intends that the saloon keepers shall have six months in which to close out. There will be a fight, however, and it is more than likely that the extension will not be granted. Prohibitionists who will fight the extension allege that the law means just what it says: that they shall have six months provided their licenses remain so long in force or words to that effect and that in this instance the Asheville saloon keepers' license expire December 31st and that therefore they will be in force until April 8, and the board of aldermen have no right to grant an extension. The people of Asheville by an overwhelming majority voted the saloons out of Asheville on October 8, and the date fixed for their retirement was January 1. It is believed that they will go on that date.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trou ble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters I would not take $500 for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great alterative and body builder; sure cure for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, druggist. 50c.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 29.—The cotton market had quite a sharp advance today and trading was more active. Sales were estimated at 400,000 bales and the close was very steady at a net advance of 16 to 22 points. The opening was steady at a net advance of 1 to 7 points in response to higher Liverpool cables. It was estimated that December notices representing about 30,000 bales were in circulation but there was a good demand in the open market for that position, and it soon became evident that the notices were being stopped by the December bull clique. This led to further gains and around midday the upward movement was accelerated by a private crop estimate of only 10,388 bales. Late in the day prices showed a net advance of 27 to 30 points on the active months with January selling at 10.85 against 10.55 the close of last Wednesday. There were recessions at times as a result of realizing but the general tendency of the market was upward and the close was only 7 or 8 points off from the best. Wall street was very quiet during the day and there was some scattering demand through wire and commission houses to indicate investment buying attracted by the light crop estimates. The members of Liverpool exchange estimate the crop at 11,935,000 bales on the average. The advance was aided by talk of an improvement in general trade conditions as a result of an easier money market and advices from the South as to spot conditions were generally bullish.

Receipts at the ports today 45,355 bales against 57,924 last week and 92,377 last year. For the week 350,000 bales against 351,533 last week and 402,138 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 4,074 bales against 28,135 last year and at Houston 8,857 against 15,374 last year.

Cotton: Spot closed steady 25 points higher; middling uplands 11.70; middling gulf 11.95; sales 2,100 bales.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Nov. 29.—The dry goods market continues to grow steadily with some slight increase in the demand for drills, sheetings, yarns and grey goods for converters uses. The jobbing trade is quiet. The silk trade regards the announcement of the failure of the American Silk Company as a healthy feature. The receiver of the Arnold Print Works, made an announcement that they will continue the business. The wool market is quiet.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Nox. 29.—The human motives which always lie back of the action of the stock market were rather more easily discerned than usual. The halting irregular movement of the early market was, quite plainly the reflection of the dread that the exigencies of the December 1 money settlements would bring out some forced liquidation of the kind which has come upon the market from time to time since the financial condition began to mend. There was, in fact, evidence of such liquidation at 1 to 2 points. The buoyant tone which developed later was evidently due to the conviction that the December settlements were not entailed serious burdens on the market.

The money market today did reflect some degree of special demand from the preparation for the December settlements but this was so moderate that it was accepted as a favorable move. The time money market also while still very narrow indicated no such deadlock as has been the rule since the financial crisis. The decision to discontinue the offer of the United States treasury 3 per cent. certificates was accepted as a testimony that the need for this emergency measure was considered to be passed. The premium on the currency also continued to decline and is expected to disappear as soon as the end of the month pay roll needs are met.

PRISONER GLAD IT IS ALL OVER

So Said Mrs. Annie Bradley When The Taking of Testimony Was Finished.

HER PASTOR ON THE STAND

He Tells of a Conversation He Once Had With the Accused—Two Insanity Experts Also Testify.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 29.—"I am so glad it is all over at last," these words were uttered today by Mrs. Bradley, charged with the murder of former Senator Arthur M. Brown, of Utah, as she with a smile was led away from the court room to the prison van which was to take her back to jail.

The presentation of evidence had just been concluded and court adjourned until tomorrow when arguments will begin. Justice Stafford announced that an agreement had been reached among counsel for four hours of argument on each side. These will be completed Monday afternoon and Justice Stafford said he would then deliver his charge and give the case to the jury.

The testimony of the two government insanity experts, Dr. Edward M. Brush of Baltimore and Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe of New York and Rev. Dr. Utter, of Salt Lake, Mrs. Bradley's pastor was the feature of today's proceedings. Both Dr. Rush and Dr. Jelliffe declared that there was nothing in the record of the case to indicate that Mrs. Bradley was insane. Counsel for the defense attempted to impeach the testimony of these experts by showing that they had been called for the government and that as a matter of course they were testifying in the interest of the government. Each of them repudiated this charge and declared that they would have testified to the insanity of Mrs. Bradley as readily as they testified to her sanity had they found her to be insane.

Rev. Dr. H. Utter, pastor of the Unitarian Church of Denver, Colo., who in former testimony has been referred to as the "priest" and who was Mrs. Bradley's pastor in Salt Lake City, testified to a conversation he had with her in 1905.

In reply to a question Dr. Utter said that Mrs. Bradley told him she believed Mr. Brown would marry her.

"I expressed the opinion," said the witness, "that he never would. But she thought that he would. This was a somewhat long conversation and the burden of it had been on my part to encourage her to give up the idea of marrying Arthur Brown. I urged her to give up the idea of suing Brown, but she pleaded for her children saying it was right and he ought to be made to do it."

Turning to this testimony Mrs. Bradley sat with bowed head. "She said," continued witness "that when it came to a test and a gun was pointed at Arthur, he would give in and marry her. I do not remember her exact words. She said Arthur Brown was a coward at heart and if a gun was pointed at him and he was told he must marry her he would do so.

"I told her I did not believe Arthur Brown was a coward. I said he ought never to be urged. There should be no compulsion either used. 'You will lose all your influence if you do.'"

"Now, didn't you say to her in the course of that conversation 'You would not do that would you?' and she replied 'of course not," asked Judge Powers.

"Yes," said Dr. Utter, "I said: 'Suppose he calls your bluff, what then? You would not shoot?' 'Oh, no' was her answer."

Dr. Utter said she did not threaten to do this herself. It might have been her brother or her father, or anybody who was to bring about this compulsion,", the witness said. He, however, had the idea that Mrs. Bradley herself would do it. "She was under tremendous obsession," continued Dr. Utter "was almost unhinged; and I felt that she might undertake to threaten Brown."

"And her thought," asked Judge Powers, "as she expressed it during your conversation was the giving to her children a name in the world?"

"That was it exactly," said Dr. Utter, and he added that Mrs. Bradley did not appear viciously inclined, but always pleaded that she loved Brown. "There was not apparently a thought of injuring him, but just under this obscession she must justify those children," said the witness.

Asked to describe what he meant by obscession, Dr. Utter facing the jury and raising his voice, said it was "possession from the outside" and he illustrated by saying that if a man was possessed of a devil, the devil was supposed to be in him. "Obscession is an idea that burns into the mind and controls outward objects and controls the inward person. It differs from possession in being an outward object instead of something inside. It was the thought of her love for him that controlled her."

When Dr. Utter conversed with her he said Mrs. Bradley was worn and weary, not pale particularly. He said she at times would appear hopeful and at other time in the depths of despair.

Mrs. Bradley was recalled to the stand and stated that she had no recollection of such a conversation.

After leaving the witness stand Rev. Dr. Utter took a seat at Mrs. Bradley's side for most of the day and appeared to be very sympathetic with her in her predicament.

They conversed freely and Mrs. Bradley, evidently feeling that Dr. Utter's testimony had not hurt her, broadly smiled at something he said.

Dr. Edward Brush, a physician and surgeon was called to the stand to testify as an expert in insanity cases. He had observed the defendant in court during the past ten days and could find no reason for believing that the defendant was insane. He regarded her as sane.

Dr. Jelliffe testified that Mrs. Bradley had neither puerpural nor toxic insanity when she shot Brown.

Angered at a man in the audience for getting up and craning his neck, Justice Stafford rebuked him and ordered expelled from the room any person who repeated the offense saying: "This is not a show, nor is it a theatre."

The opening argument for the government will be by assistant District Attorney Turner who will be followed by Mr. Wells for the defense. On Monday Mr. Hoover for the defense will open. He will be followed by Judge Powers, also for the defense, the closing being by District Attorney Baker for the government.

Justice Stafford immediately will charge the jury, who will be given the case about 4 o'clock.

FIVE KILLED IN A WRECK

Freight Train Crashes Into a Trolley Car—Gates at Railroad Crossing Were Open—Flagman and Motorman Arrested.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 29.—Five factory employes were killed early today at the West Main street crossing over the Highland division tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, when an extra Hartford bound freight train crashed into a trolley car containing twenty-five persons bound for the Pin Factories in Oakville.

The car was struck with great force directly in the middle and all the passengers killed were badly mangled. Six others were badly injured and had to be carried to their homes. The dead: Sarah Ryan, Annie Corcorry, Robert French, Waterville; Walter Hayes, Jane Kelly. The seriously injured: Kitty Hanley, leg broken and scalp cut; Margaret Melton, Jennie Benson, Sadie Allen, Andrew Lepier. Aside from Kitty Hanley the others received scalp wounds, broken bones and bad cuts, but it is not yet known whether the injuries of any will prove fatal.

Flagman John Flavin and Conductor John Dillon, of the trolley car, were arrested. The motorman of the car, Charles Leonard was not held.

It is stated that the wrecked trolley car was following closely behind another car, which had passed safely over the crossing. It is customary to drop the gates at the railroad crossing on the approach of a train but in this instance the gates were up. The flagman, it is alleged waved his flag, showing a clear track. According to the rules of the company a conductor of a car must run ahead of his car as far as the tracks and ascertain whether or not a train is approaching. This it is stated was not done in this case.

There was absolutely no chance for the engineer of the train to stop his train in time to prevent the accident. Although he applied the brakes, the engine crashed into the trolley car, smashing it too splinters and throwing the occupants in all directions.

WANT A CHANGE MADE.

Democratic Members of House Prefer to Have Speaker Name Committees (By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 29.—At a caucus of the Democratic members of the house, scheduled for tomorrow at 2 P. M., Representative Jones of Virginia, will introduce a resolution to this effect: "That it is the sense of the Democratic members that all appointment to committees should be made by the speaker."

The purpose underlying this seemingly common place proposal is to take out of the hands of John Sharp Williams the naming of the Democratic members of the House committee.

"Speaker Cannon," said Mr. Jones tonight, "ever since he has been the ruler of the House has turned over all minority committee assignments to Mr. Williams, thereby providing a source of unpleasantness and squabble between such of the minority as were not pleased with all of Mr. Williams' selections. This has always been a shrewd move on the Speaker's part to disrupt the Democratic side of the House. If he can repeat it this year the results are apt to be specially disastrous to the Democratic party. If the Democrats however, hold solidly together during this session, I believe we have a splendid chance for a Democratic House in the next Congress. Further the approach of a presidential year and the certainty of financial considerations to come before the present Congress, call on their own account for absolute harmony of the minority.

"In introducing a resolution for the naming of all committees in their entirety by the speaker, I must not be misunderstood as acting to discredit the leader of the minority. To the contrary, Mr. Williams and I have always been good friends. I told him some time ago of my intention to introduce such a resolution. He neither said that he would uphold or oppose it."

The increased number of Democratic members of the House inclines the leader of the minority to believe that there should be seven Democratic committees which last session had been six, and it has been announced that a resolution embodying that sentiment will be adopted at tomorrow's caucus and conveyed to the speaker.

W. J. BRYAN AT NEW HAVEN

Where He Addressed the New England Progressive Democratic League.

BANQUET HALL CROWDED

Also Hands Over to The City a Marble Fountain, the Gift of the Late Philo Bennett.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 29.—William Jennings Bryan received a warm and hearty welcome today where he came on a double mission of handing over to the city a marble fountain erected through a bequest in the will of his friend, the late Philo S. Bennettt and of addressing the New England Progressive Democratic League at its annual banquet.

Each of his four addresses were enthusiastically received by the audience which in total numbers went well into the thousands.

In addressing the league at its business meeting, Mr. Bryan expressed his great appreciation of the work of the league and said he believed that the time is not far away when the members will meet to rejoice over victory won, and he hoped to be with them when they rejoiced. Mr. Bryan said the league's name was a good one, as it stood for action. In the Republican party there are the stand-patters and the reformers. The former element is against progress. The reform element is the life of the organization, and, he said, he had no doubt but that the reform element will win within the party just as it has won in the Democratic party.

Of the reform in the Democratic party, Mr. Bryan said that it was growing. He thought there was much hope for the Democrats in the future Policies which heretofore were called radical and dangerous are now endorsed by those who formerly opposed them. The president is, in part, responsible for this, Mr. Bryan said. He represented the great reform element in his own party. "In the next campaign," said Mr. Bryan, "the Democratic platform will be progressive, definite, positive and one the people can read and understand.

"We have had in the past," he said, "platforms which read one way before election and another way after election. The people were betrayed. Now there is an awakening of conscience. We have not got to invent principles. Every situation can be met by the old principles. Everything the party stood for has been vindicated. Our principles as a party have been vindicated in a negative way at least by the party in power. The signs all point to a great support of these principles."

This evening Mr. Bryan spoke at Woolsey Hall to Yale students, and at the banquet of the League.

This evening in the Tontine Hotel a complimentary dinner was given Mr. Bryan by the Democrats of the city. Mr. Bryan's remarks were listened to with great interest. His subject was "The Point of View." Before Yale Law school political club early this evening, he made an address on "The Individual and the State." Mr. Bryan made a plea for the support of the interests of the people as against special interests, praised President Roosevelt for his policy toward corporations, criticised in strong terms swollen fortunes and declared that embezzlement of power should be punished as well as embezzlement of funds.

Mr. Bryan spent the night at the home of Mr. Troupe. He leaves on an early train tomorrow morning for New York.

TODAY'S GAME.

Military and Naval Cadets Will Battle For Supremacy at Philadelphia.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—The military and naval cadets from West Point and Annapolis who will battle for football supremacy in their annual match on Franklin field tomorrow arrived in this city with a horde of followers.

Immediately after luncheon the naval squad, with the coaches went to Franklin where for nearly two hours they engaged in secret practice. At 3 o'clock the West Point squad followed to the scene of tomorrow's contest and went through a similar practice. Both teams are hopeful of victory but over confident.

From the social standpoint the game tomorrow promises to be a most attractive and spectacular event. Though the President will not be present he will be represented at the game by Miss Ethel Roosevelt who will be the guest of Assistant Secretary of War Oliver and Misses Oliver. Mr. Oliver will represent the War Department in the absence of Secretary Taft. Secretary Metcalf and Assistant Secretary Newberry will represent the Navy Department.

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, "for the rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lnug complaints. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

ALLOTMENTS ANNOUNCED

No More Subscriptions to the Three Per Cent. Certificates Will be Considered—Practically All to National Banks.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 29.—The final of allotments of the 3 per cent. one per cent. certificates was definitely announced by Secretary Cortelyou today. He declared that no allotments had been made or would be made after his announcement of Wednesday night, that no further subscription would be considered. Practically all the allotments are made to national banks which have agreed to take out circulation. It is said that the amount of the allotments made will not materially exceed $25,000,000.

The offers for the Panama two per cent. bonds were still reaching the treasury today in large numbers. Tomorrow afternoon the receipt of subscriptions closes. The number of bids closely approximates the number received for the loan of July 20, 1906, when an offer of $30,000,000 was subscribed to the amount of $446,000,000 or about fifteen times the amount offered.

The limitation of the issue of one year certificates to $25,000,000 or less is regarded by bankers here as a wise step in view of its influence in preventing an unnecessary expansion of bank note circulation. The maximum expansion possible upon the new issues will stand at $75,000,000. If $20,000,000 in new bank notes circulation is secured by certificates, subject to call next spring, this amount can easily be retired without imposing so serious a burden upon the banks as if the amount dealt with were larger.

Secretary Cortelyou continues to listen attentively to representations in regard to currency measures, but does not commit himself beyond the general necessity for intelligent legislation.

A report reached the treasury department today that the Chicago banks would resume currency payment next Monday.

It is the opinion of treasury officials that conditions are rapidly approaching the normal and that the critical stage in the situation everywhere seems to have been fully passed.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Confidence is Returning and Prospects Are Much Brighter.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York Nov. 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weely review of trade tomorrow will say: Confidence is returning but conservatism is still much in evidence in manufacturing. Mills and factories are only operated to fill orders, no accumulation of stocks being permitted pending more settled conditions. Some idle plants have already resumed. Retail trade is more active, sales of holiday goods supplementing dealings in staple merchandise. More closed banks have resumed, gold has arrived in Europe in large volume and bank note circulations expands in response to special facilities offered by the treasury. One of the best features of the week at this city was the practical elimination of the premium on currency. Output of finished products has declined still further, and more pig iron furnaces are idle, but the sentiment is not demoralized at leading centers.

Prospects are brighter for an early resumption of buying in primary markets for cotton goods. Stocks in the hands of distributors are known to be depleted and reduction in work at the mills has prevented any accumulation at first hands. Meanwhile quotations remain nominally unchanged, and no readjustment is expected until conditions are favorable for a substantial volume of business.

Scarcity of heavy weight worsteds gives that division a firmer tone than other grades.

Conditions are unchanged in the footwear industry. Jobbers throughout the country purchase only for immediate requirements and salesmen report light orders. Few changes are reported in leather, but the tone is weaker despite the smaller output. There is little demand from tanners, and hides accumulate in all positions.

SUICIDE TO MUSIC STRAINS.

She Turned on the Gas and the Phonograph Played.

New York, Nov. 29.—Turning on the gas and the phonograph at the same time, Mrs. Georgia Tittle, aged 35, committed suicide at her home yesterday to the strains of "In the Wild Woods, Where the Blue Bells Grow." her favorite air. She was despondent because of ill health.

Is due in a large measure to abuse of the bowels, by employing drastic purgatives. To avoid all danger, use only Dr. King's New Life Pills, the safe, gentle cleansers and invigorators. Guaranteed to cure headache, biliousness, malaria and jaundice, at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 25c.
